When you want to remove a program that is not performing well, remove it using the Add/Remove Program tool in the Control Panel. Here's how.

1. Select the Control Panel:

▶ In Windows 95, 98, 98SE and Me, select Start > Settings > Control Panel.

▶ In Windows XP, select Start > Control Panel (Figure 1).

3. After the Control Panels “populates” (which is technobabble for “lists all programs on your PC”), Click on the program you want to remove (Figure 3).

4. The program removal wizard appears (Figure 4).

❶ Confirm that it is the program you want to remove.

5. Follow the wizard's instructions.

6. Restart your system (Start > Turn Off Computer > Restart).
